	Figurative Language
	Essential Question:
	How does Figurative Language enhance your reading experience?
What is Figurative Language?	Figurative Language is a tool that an author uses to help the reader visualize (or see) what is happening in a story or poem.

Types Of Figurative
Language: Metaphor
Alliteration
Onomatopoeia
Idiom
Personification

Hyperbole Oxymoron

Pun

Simile

A Simile is a comparison using like or as. It usually compares two dissimilar objects.

Example:

His feet were as big as boats. --> We are comparing the size of feet to boats.

Metaphor

am =

is

are

A metaphor states that one thing is something else.

It is a comparison, but it does NOT use "like" or "as" to make the comparison.

was

were

Examples:

Her hair is a jump rope \rightarrow Metaphor

"Jamie smelled the brewing coffee and stared at the legs of the kitchen table and his mother's legs--she called them toothpicks..." pg 19

Figurative Language Notes

Alliteration

-3X

After 3, use

The repetition of the same sounds or of the same kinds of sounds at the beginning of words or in stressed syllables.

connectors

Example:

- Can be a Tongue Twister Clever Clifford Cutter clumsily closed the closet clasps.
Yolanda Yvonne Yarger yodeled up yonder yesterday.

Trent's rent's spent!

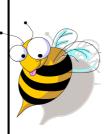

Onomatopoeia

A word which imitates a noise or action.

"The bee buzzed past us."
--> The word
"buzzed"
is a word which sounds like the noise a bee makes
when they move past us.

Idiom

Figure of speech

The words do not mean what they say

Example:

An expression that has a meaning apart from the meanings of its individual words.

"It's raining cats and dogs."
It's literal meaning suggests that cats and dogs are falling from the sky. We interpret it to mean that it is raining hard.

Personification

Giving human qualities, feelings, action, or characteristics to inanimate (non-living) objects.

Example:

"The window winked at me."
The verb, "wink" is a human action. A window is an inanimate object. Therefore, we have a good example of personification.

Hyperbole

Example:

Makes exaggerated comparisons for effect. Sometimes these can be very funny. They are often used in fairy tales and tall tales to make the story interesting.

The pavement was so hot, our feet fried.

He was so tall his head touched the clouds.

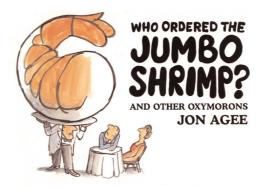

Oxymoron: A figure of speech where opposite terms appear together

Jumboshrimp!

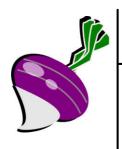

Good Grief!

Known Secret Awfully nice confirmed rumor

Proud to be Humble

Figurative Language Notes
